

Life Designer

Sasha

Beeb beeb
Getting up,
Pick a dress,
Have a cup,
Just to bite in between,
An exciting routine

Call a cab, close the door
Just like all the days before
In control of your fate
So you're never late

You learned to hide your smile
Just let it show once in a while

Come along, come along
Come an have a good time
Take a break, look around
Leave your worries behind
You don't need no soul pathfinder
You just need a life designer

Come along, come along
Come and give it a try
We can talk, we can laugh
We can light up the night
Guess you need one last reminder
I can be your life designer

Getting back
Empty space
All is set in its place
Perfect style - like a scene
In a home magazine

Someday the life you've chosen
Will feel dead cold and frozen too
And you'll hate being you

You learned to hide yourself
Before you turn to someone else

Come along, come along
Come an have a good time
Take a break, look around
Leave your worries behind
You don't need a soul pathfinder
You just need a life designer

Come along, come along
Come and give it a try
We can talk, we can laugh
We can light up the night
Guess you need one last reminder
I can be your life designer

You learned to hide your smile

Just let it show once in a while

Come along, come along
Come an have a good time
Take a break, look around
Leave your worries behind
You don't need a soul pathfinder
You just need a life designer

Come along, come along
Come and give it a try
We can talk, we can laugh
We can light up the night
Guess you need one last reminder
I can be your life designer

Come along, come along
Come an have a good time
Take a break, look around
Leave your worries behind
Guess you need one last reminder
I can be your life designer