

Fairytales Of L.A.

Savannah Outen

Oh oh oh oh oh oh oh
In the city of angels
Yeah you fly right next to me
We hit the Sunset Strip and I feel the rhythm of our Hollywood heartbeat
We see a show at the Rainbow, And then you walk me home
I chase you up the stairs and we break the door in as our lips meet.

When my pulse is pounding
And there's a flash of lightning
And the setting sun spins round and round it's like a rollercoaster
And then we wake up laughing
Until we go out dancing
And as we hit the stage
We sing the song of fairy tales and it goes
Oh oh oh oh oh oh oh.

You wake me up with coffee,
The only thing that gets me out of bed
Is knowing we'll be walking along the beach where the waves are crashing
and We can dive in the ocean, take a trip to another place
And when we're all washed up we'll roll in the sand until the sun comes down yeah

When my pulse is pounding
And there's a flash of lightning
And the setting sun spins round and round it's like a rollercoaster
And then we wake up laughing
Until we go out dancing
And as we hit the stage
We sing the song of fairy tales and it goes
Oh oh oh oh oh oh oh.

Cause in my mind an ocean drive is a magic carpet ride And the buildings all around us feel like castles in the sky

When my pulse is pounding
And there's a flash of lightning
And the ceiling fan spins round and round it's like a rollercoaster
And then we wake up laughing
Until we go out dancing
And as we hit the stage
We sing the song of fairy tales and it goes
Oh oh oh oh oh oh oh.
