

Ain't No Kind of Love

Saves the Day

She's up again, it's 4 AM
He's out all night, says with his friends
She wants to ask but his push comes to shove
That ain't no kind of love
Every night it seems to come to a fight, who is right?
Black and blue and broken by all the lies, never mind
All the ways she wants to try to begin to reunite might ignite another fire.

For right to now make it through the long day, is okay
Tomorrow, when anything can happen
Try again.
Until then keep on breathing
The love you long to know is within

She shakes her head, something she said sets off his raving mad demands.
She wants to help, but his push comes to shove
That ain't no kind of love
Everyday another chain of complaints, can it wait?
Tired of talking to the same sour face, why delay?
There's a way to rearrange, it's okay to make a change
Years are flying by in days

For right to now make it through the long day, is okay
Tomorrow, when anything can happen
Try again.
Until then keep on breathing
The love you long to know is within

When all things have to end
You do what you can
To hold on or let go
To all you are to all that you know.

His push comes to shove
That ain't no kind of love.
Every year a holiday getaway goes astray
In the middle of a date suddenly in a rage
Flips a table walks away aggravated and ashamed
On her own another day

For right to now make it through the long day, is okay
Tomorrow, when anything can happen
Try again.
Until then keep on breathing
The love you long to know is within
