

Where Are You

Saves the Day

Where are you?
and where am I?
we've been slippin slowly south

I guess my tounge is tied to the stary sky tonight

Cause im not sure whats goin on
I feel the earth quakin beneath me

It feels like elephants tremblin my hollow chest

If i could move just one fingernail to scratch your name on the back of my hand so i would never forget you again

Remember when was way back then
and as for now
just danglin
between the moon and melon sunset