

I Wish His Eyes Belonged To You

Saybia

I count the stars upon the velvet sky above
I used to count the stars with you
Me and you
I count the minutes from the day you left me there
One thousand four hundred and forty, forty one

You turned my mind,
You crashed my will,
You smashed it all against a wall
All the blood is running inside me I know, I know
We came as one, and left as two
But nothings true, except me and you
And the blood is running inside me, I know, inside me I know

I'd like to come closer
But everything is here
It's funny how fast a man can fall
If he falls
It's coming closer now
A man is looking up
I wish his eyes belonged to you
Long for you

You turned my mind,
You crashed my will,
You smashed it all against a wall
All the blood is running inside me I know, I know
We came as one, and left as two
But nothings true, except me and you
And the blood is running inside me, I know, inside me I know

The lights are out
The pain is gone
His pride is proud coz sadness won
All the blood is running under me I know.

You turned my mind,
You crashed my will,
You smashed it all against a wall
But the blood is running under me I know,
We came as one, but left as two
But nothings true, except me and you
And the blood's no longer inside me, I know, inside me I know
