

A Girl Like You

Scanners

She'll want your full attention
Looks in the window with a little smile
And checks her makeup for a little while

Decides that on reflection
A cash injection is what she needs more
I have to tell you that she ain't no whore
When love is war you need all of your weapons in the fight

'Cause a girl like you
Well, you don't understand
That a girl like you
Brings out the worst in a man

I feel your fascination
But there's a hesitation in my soul
I know the price if I should lose control

Staring in the mirror
There's just a window into so much more
That kind of beauty makes guys go to war like times before
Loving always turns into a fight

'Cause a girl like you
Well, you don't understand
That a girl like you
Brings out the worst in a man

'Cause a girl like you
You're a four-letter word
And a girl like you
Goes on to rule the whole world
