

Soul Disintegration

Scar the Martyr

What a waste, deception hangs,
In the balance, we create: Our only hope is the truth.
A bitter fate, it satiates, primal and carnal, lost embrace
Turns the innocence to ruin

Answer to the call of an unknown force
Given all I could, still but you want more
See, I'm not like you, Soul disintegration
Looking for the key to unlock the doors
With every single dream, when it's run its course
See, I'm not like you, Soul Disintegration

Inhuman race, a different face,
For our survival we create: our afflictions, we are fools
A docile state, we medicate, snuff out emotions, it's too late
We're confined without a clue

Answer to the call of an unknown force
Given all I could, still but you want more
See, I'm not like you, Soul disintegration
Looking for the key to unlock the doors
With every single dream, when it's run its course
See, I'm not like you, Soul Disintegration

You're dead inside my heart
I won't take it anymore,
You're dead inside my heart
I won't take it anymore.
I'm no prisoner
Rely on weakness, the strong will rise and overcome
Injustice is hate, words fall on deaf ears and the poor

Answer to the call of an unknown force
Given all I could, still but you want more
See, I'm not like you, Soul disintegration
Looking for the key to unlock the doors
With every single dream, when it's run its course
See, I'm not like you, Soul Disintegration