

Give Me Something

Scars on 45

I carved your name
In an old oak tree
But the council chopped it down
Because it was filled with disease

And I sent you a thousand messages
But not a single one came through

Please
Give me something
Something to hold on to
Give me something
That links me to you
Give me something
Something to hold on to
And I'll wear your wedding ring for a lifetime

I've seen a place
Where your fingers lock with mine
But the view it disappeared
As my alarm clock hit the time

And I've made a million wishes now
But not a single one's come true

Please
Give me something
Something to hold on to
Give me something
That links me to you
Give me something
Something to hold on to
And you'll wear my wedding ring for a lifetime

Please
Give me something
Something to hold on to
Give me something
That links me to you

Give me something
Something to hold on to
Give me something
That links me to you

Give me something
Give me something
Give me something
Just give me something
