

Guns Are Loaded

Scars on Broadway

All the broken glass reminds me of home
Brings up all the memories of long ago
Gues what's coming back today
I know you said that it's okay

When time expires on the earth
That's how you know it's over
When all the guns are loaded close by you all the guns are loaded close by you

When he offers reasons he just had to go
We're just changing with seasons and you never know
Gues what's coming back today
I know you said that it's okay

When time expires on the earth
That's how you know it's over
When all the guns are loaded close by you
all the guns are loaded close by you

When you lost your reasons and you just don't know
And you realize that you have nothing left to show..
When you prick your heart like a bleeding drum
And you realize that you have nowhere left to run

This is for the abused and this is for the abuser
I know you didn't choose it , this is fucking life
This is for the abused and this is for the abuser
I know you didn't choose it , you just wanna survive

All the broken glass reminds me of home
Brings up all the memories of long ago
Gues what's coming back today
I know you said that it's okay

When time expires on the earth
That's how you know it's over
When all the guns are loaded close by you
all the guns are loaded close by you
all the guns are loaded close by you

This is for the abused and this is for the abuser
This is for the abused and this is for the abuser
I'm the fucking abused, and I'm the fucking abuser