Cheating Myself

School Boy Humor

We'll sing just a little bit louder, And we won't stop till she can't handle it We'll sing just a little bit slower So she'll hang on to every single word

Over these past few years I feel like I've been cheating myself I'm working hard all the time You take the easy way out

Over these past few years I've tasted who you're going to be Candy coated on top But so bitter underneath

Uh oh, uh oh He's still watching Oh no, oh no She's undressing him with her eyes, wasting his time, No, no, no (And I know that she'll never change) And uh oh, uh oh No one said it didn't hurt and Everybody knows good things take a little work So don't go giving up on the one, the one you love

Over these past few years we've driven right into a dead end And we'll keep spinning our tires until one of us gives in And we're approaching the question that I feel like we should ask Should we just catch different rides, or just keep fixing the flats?

Uh oh, uh oh He's still watching Oh no, oh no She's undressing him with her eyes, wasting his time, No, no, no (And I know that she'll never change) And uh oh, uh oh No one said it didn't hurt and Everybody knows good things take a little work So don't go giving up on the one, the one you love

We'll sing just a little bit louder And we won't stop till she can't handle it We'll sing just a little bit slower So she'll hang on to every single word

So close your eyes girl, and tell me what you see The lives that we've created, were all because of me So listen closely girl, cause our future is at stake The reason we are ending is because I give, you take

Close your eyes, and tell me what you see A problem that's unchanging, a past that's haunting me

Uh oh, uh oh He's still watching Oh no, oh no She's undressing him with her eyes, wasting his time, No, no, no (a past that's haunting me) And uh oh, uh oh No one said it didn't hurt and Everybody knows good things take a little work So don't go giving up on the one, the one you love, The one you love The one you love The one you love