Children Of The Night

Schoolyard Heroes

They said we'd never make it out of here alive Our wicked bodies melted right before their eyes And everything you touch shall be destroyed Everything you love is crushed and broken

The children of the night Your pretty skin will soon decay There's no one waiting for you The children of the night

Lalalalalalalalalala

This curse on both our families You're a creature born without a name I'll call you pain, I'll call you shame Or maybe vengeance wont you tell me tell me

Everything you touch shall be destroyed Everything you love is crushed and broken

The children of the night Your pretty skin will soon decay There's no one waiting for you The children of the night