

Talk About Your Life

Scooter

Walking out in the street light midnight
Walking out in the street light midnight
Whispering wind catch me in there, hanging
Take a bow, your life I'd like to know
It's now easy - going where no one goes
You know what I know

When say days burning my flow is cause for pain
But also sicker than your own domain
Come with me, I'm still insane
Still insane in the membrane
A man likes milk and now he owns a million cars
We love to party, that's why we rock the house
Join the crowd and kill the lights
Hands are waving throughout the night

Walking out in the street light midnight
Whispering wind catch me in there, hanging
Take a bow, your life I'd like to know
It's now easy - going where no one goes
You know what I know

Let tragedy come and carry on
Life's so fast like you're on the run
And tell the cook the fish was shit
Now let's do it like your clock is sandwich
I can be the bun and you can be the burger dough
Come and join the crew, we're living in another world
Lessons are written in the sounds of time
I try to love but I won't change my mind yea

Take a bow, your life I'd like to know
It's now easy - going where no one goes
You know what I know
