Wolverine

Scott Matthew

I walk through, the dark descends Fills every room with your absence Through the lies there lies the prize To sing the saddest lullaby

Wolverine come slay this dream Leave me cowering in the trees Sticks and stones come break my bones Its come to be my comfort zone

Let there always be another Let there always be another

Wolverine come slay this dream
Leave me cowering 'tween the sheets
Sticks and stones come break my bones
Its come to be where I belong

Let there always be another Dream to kill Let there always be another
