Caught Between

Screaming Trees

When you walked into the room Never seen your face up here On the ground with all that crawls To your head before the dawn

Now I'm caught between and tired of all this pain Holds you under but the shadows still remain

Voices tap you from behind Did one say that I was wrong Go ahead and blind yourself Feeling never will be gone

Now I'm caught between and tired of all this pain Holds you under but the shadows still remain Time has taken me down from my pedestal

Then you walked into the room Never seen your face before Close my eyes and see the sky Won't follow you there anymore

Now I'm caught between and tired of all this pain Holds you under but the shadows still remain Time has taken me down
It's taken me down, way down there
You know that it's taken me

Oh, I said, "Lord, don't take me"
And now it's taken me down
Down by the ground now
Woah, yeah yeah
