

Hospital Bed

Seabear

We spread our blankets over the lake
I peed tight in a jar
I tried to leave
But he held my arms and head in the lake

So I grab on hold to the spider's neck and ride out of town
Because I'm sick and the days are long

I tried, and I tried
To squeeze the blue out of the sky
The yellow out of the sun

In that big invisible moment
The kid on my shoulders
With the time we'll make it into sand
Agreed into keeping your hand

Like a rabbit in a human skin coat
He'll dance on the yard
Like a wolf flipping good-bye notes
You'll howl at the sky

So, show your cat teeth to the light and grab unto his main vein
