

Owl Waltz

Seabear

It's hard to wake up when you're not sleeping
It's hard to make it mean something when it means nothing at all

Hear her call, in vain

I slept for a year
Until I pulled your hair
I fell down the stairs
So glad, I found you there

Time to forget your mistakes and regrets Sometimes I swore your mind was worse than trap doors

And on long black nights
When my hope had died
You (were a friendly life)

So I let the werewolf fowl
I let the lonely nights (Happen by)

I put the down on you
Turned off my lantern
Then I (slept by your feet)

And when you come out or you're somewhere in town
All will (drown in sound)

And no sleep, no light
No rapid type twister soared
On the (frozen ground)

Let's get a hold of now
So many thoughts
(To dream about)

Some nights I swear there was magic in the air
