

Wooden Teeth

Seabear

We got married while you were asleep
Carved our names out with your wooden teeth
And in the night time we'll act like thieves
I tried my best to wash the (bed of leaves?)

So count the leaves in the yard
One for each year that I've been away

We got married while you were asleep
Carved out names out in our old oak tree
You never wanted me to be all that I could be
She heard me singing and ran away with me

So count the leaves in the oak tree
One for each day
That I've been away
Been away

You got married while I was asleep at first it hurt a lot but it didn't cut too deep
Now I don't care where you've been I just hope I never See you again

I will come home if you just ask me
I will come home and let love in
