I saw it with my mind's eye And sensed the growing serenity The divine order of a higher being Procreation of an unknown breed A menace in disquise A dagger behind symphaty's back Welcome to fools paradise The snake coiling around your neck I see a future that is black and white Thorns of my skin restricts me to find My peace of mind The birth of something new and sinister Wrapped in deception's cloth On the fields of glamour Our feet will not tread In a senseless peace of mind Eliminated we are from the circle of happiness and delight These words repeating in my head again and again Sometimes love is the key that unlocks hate A merace in disquise A dagger behind sympathy's back Welcome to fools paradise The snake coiling around your neck I see a future that is black and white Thorns on your skin restricts me to find The calm in you