Ambulance Chaser

Search The City

You said, ?Just look on the bright side? But the bright side looks black and white Just one more time, can we scale this fence And scream at the city lights? If we're playing for keeps you already beat me

Now, I've come undone Just so you could stitch me up This damage seems to suit you If I'm going down then you're going down

Now, I've come undone Just so you could stitch me up This damage seems to suit you If you're going down then I'll go down with you

And there's red wine by poolside We'll toast to the bitter end and the best mistake of our lives They've got a name for you where I come from You keep making a mess and turning heads And the worst part is you know it

Now, I've come undone Just so you could stitch me up This damage seems to suit you If I'm going down then you're going down

Now, I've come undone Just so you could stitch me up This damage seems to suit you If you're going down then I'll go down

The haunting, the kind that I never saw coming Are you haunting me? You're the ghost that's digging my grave I've got a gut feeling, can anybody hear me? Got a gut feeling that you will be the death of me If I go down then you're going down, baby

It's not what you said It's just the way you said it It's not what you said But I can't forget this

Now, I've come undone Just so you could stitch me up This damage seems to suit you If I'm going down then you're going down

Now, I've come undone Just so you could stitch me up This damage seems to suit you If you're going down then I'll go down

Now, I've come undone Just so you could stitch me up This damage seems to suit you If you're going down then I'll go down with you
