License To Confuse

Sebadoh

I'm not attractive today, I'm not a sight for sore eyes I'm not an Adam or Eve, I'm just a nervous young thing Hear my voice strain as I sing, my will won't bend and then bre ak The crate will break and I'll fall, I couldn't help it at all I've got a license to confuse, what do we got to lose? A license to confuse I guess I got what it takes to help me make this mistake It took a while but I learned, it took a twist but I turned And now its clear that I'm blind, another mountain to climb Another distance to fall, I couldn't help it all I've got a license to confuse, what have you got to lose? A license to confuse I shouldn't sound so forlorn, regret the day I was born 'cause here I am and I've been, I only need a few friends My hands are sweating all day like I've been letting me down Like I've been letting me slide, just some nonsense on my mind And the license to confuse, nothing I can use Bust it, build it for a year Here's my license that's my right
