

I have found my way to live in light.
You fill me with the eternal breath.
Carefully warmin' on my shoulders, you make me shine, in a black embrace

Don't live me now or I'll just remain in a world without hope, Sharin' at darkest sky askin' -why should I stay here? - Staring at blind horizons
-why should I stay in this...

...cloudy night
I long for immense lands to fly over on wings, Forever looking back recalling the hope of a light lost behind now,
I need your power inside me,
need you to wipe away my loneliness, Waiting for you my bride, before emptiness falls over me.-

Now I'm entangled in this dirty marsh It's hard to set myself and my heart free But time will come, I'll wear your wings my bride we'll tear the clouds away weighing down on my life.

But don't leave me now
or I'll just remain in a world without hope Staring at darkening skies Asking -why should I stay here? - before a blind horizon
-Looking for...

...your light,
I long for the immense lands to fly over on wings Forever running through the eternal lands with the fire in my heart,
I need your power inside me
need you to spread around my heart, don't leave my hands, Bride, don't let emptiness fall over me...
