

Living in the Night

Seelennacht

There was a time you still remember
Living in the night
A time so dark like a cold November
Living in the night

The night has fallen on your face
And desperation's grown
And then your life it seems to fade
And leaves you all alone

The rain was falling on this day
There was no light to obtain
Salvation seems so far away
Which you want to regain

You're marching on a lonely lane
Which leads into the void
And no-one will remark the pain
Which you want to destroy

A fallen angel is what you are
With the first snow you'll be gone
Demons whispering from afar
Your soul is all alone

The tears are running down your face
Could you ever leave this maze?
There was a time you still remember
Living in the night
And when there's nothing left to say
To the edge of time you pray
A time so dark like a cold November
You're living in the night
