

All The Ships At Sea

Sense Field

Broke champagne across her bow declared she's unsinkable now a symbol of the greater emotion to a brave new age great works will free us from this cage but they had to send her into the ocean is your friend but she can burn you down into your own submission wishing you had had the vision before they leave the station great big planes criss-cross the sky such a small percentage of us ever die does it make you feel better know when we're about to crash you'll get a little oxygen mask and they'll try to land her over the ocean is a friend but she can burn you

down into your own submission
orders to abort the mission

the ocean's your friend but she can wash you away the sky is your friend but she can blow you away the sun is your friend but she can burn you

orders to abort the mission
before they leave the station
