

thought train pulled into the station with some information about a life of random chance music playing very loudly put us in a trance
and everyone was forced to dance but money cut into a good dream wall and all the life came out and all the angels fall