

Weight Of The World

Sense Field

You try to run just as fast as you can, but Hurry their getting close
You run out of breath from you fighting their hands They're tearing at your clothes
You try to look for a place you can hide
But there's no room left in your mind
You see a friend who's just standing in line, to help you get out in time

Waiting, watching over you....
Just leave all your things, to take you away from the things that you knew before,
Beautiful boy, carry the weight of the world, Beautiful girl...

we'll turn your nightmares back into dreams First you've got to close your eyes, Then you'll get another chance to redeem
But they'll recognize your disguise, we'll have to back to that moment in time, when you couldn't see the light, the night it took over your body and mind,
without an end in sight,
waiting, watching, over you,
just leave all your things, to take you away from the things that you knew before, beautiful boy, carry the weight of the world, beautiful girl, nothing's the same as before, beautiful boy....

you're tired of running so you turn to fight, it's you up against yourself, now you can see in your eyes there's a light, a love that you've never felt...

Take you away from the things that you knew before,
Beautiful boy, carry the weight of the world, Beautiful girl Nothing's the same as before, Beautiful boy...