Chandelier

Senses Fail

This head is haunted by a chorus in the sky The voices aren't mine I kiss the darkness as I see the whites of their eyes They're crawling up my spine They bloom at midnight in the middle of the moonlight

Strike a match, light the chandelier This bedroom is a ballroom now Strike a band, make the dead dance This room is filled with corpses in costumes

My guests dress in black and blue, I raise a toast to the few The orchids are in bloom But there's a dead note in the choir of the garden The sun will kiss the gloom, the warden's giving pardons soon

Strike a match, light the chandelier This bedroom is a ballroom now Strike a band, make the dead dance This room is filled with corpses in costumes

Strike a band and make them dance
 (I kiss the darkness as I see the whites of their eyes)
Strike a band and make them dance
Make them dance

This is your last night Do you believe in what you write? We open the sky and we hope you see light

Strike a match, light the chandelier This bedroom is a ballroom now Strike a band, make the dead dance This room is filled with corpses in costumes

Strike a band and make them dance
 (I kiss the darkness as I see the whites of their eyes)
Strike a band and make them dance
 (This room is filled with corpses in costumes)