

This Battleship Wont Budge

Sent By Ravens

waking up at 2 a.m... i realize that i'm a creature.. we all think like machines...
if human nature is an anchor...
then it won't pull us down
just trust in this touch..
we've been conditioned to fall down...
but she has free will..
when second guessing yourself..
let closed eyes lead the way...
we're not scared to ride in the pouring rain...
with the top let down..
making attempts just to be different...
in this beat-down town...
we're looking through the glass of emotion..
and fashion takes its toll...
so don't wait for her...
forgive me father for i have sinned..
without you..i'm just flesh...
forgive me you're part of me..
and i won't budge..no i won't budge
