Sad Song

September

You got your clothes and your books and your empty smile
You took your time but you're finally out
Now I can breathe, I can dance, I can run amok
You think I'm cruel but you know that Im right
'Cause we were ordinary, bored and wary of the things we said

It ain't a crime to sing a sad song One about love, now that it's gone It ain't a crime to sing a sad song One about us, now that we're done

You give me wings, give me life when you're not around You were no good 'til I left you behind You made me gray, just a face in another crowd Now I'm alone and I'm one of a kind Yeah we were ordinary, quiet contrary to a stormy daze

It ain't a crime to sing a sad song One about love, now that it's gone It ain't a crime to sing a sad song One about us, now that we're done

And I knew that we were wrong, but you needed me to move you along

And I know we didn't belong together We were ordinary, bored and wary of the things we said

It ain't a crime to sing a sad song One about love, now that it's gone It ain't a crime to sing a sad song One about us, now that we're done

It ain't a crime to sing a sad song One about love, now that it's gone It ain't a crime to sing a sad song One about us, now that we're done

It ain't a crime to sing a sad song, one about love Now that it's gone
