

Please Baby Please

Serena Ryder

You left the window glass broken
Broken a long time ago
And why did I act like it mattered
I just can't see clear anymore

I hang my clothes up like buildings
I don't do the dishes anymore
And you know I'm trying to be better
I don't know what I'm that for

Please, Baby please
Come back to me
Words that have broken
Hearts that have age

Please, Baby please
Come back you'll see
Windows wide open
For hearts that are long gone away

Do you remember when we felt
The New York we lost in the Spring
Thought that we found it in London
Did we think it would change anything

Please, Baby please
Come back to me
Words that have broken
Hearts that have age

Please, Baby please
If you come back you'll see
Windows wide open
For hearts that are long gone away

Wait, wait for the day
Wait for the one that takes us away
And as far as I can see
There wasn't anything you did to me

Please, Baby please
Come back to me
Words that have broken
Hearts that have age

Please, Baby please
If you come back you'll see
Windows wide open
For hearts that are long gone away
For hearts that are long gone away
For hearts that are long gone away
