

Forever

Serenity

Far away you fly Your soul is in the sky There's nothing left that brings you back to me You've reached out my mind You've lost a painful fight Now follow him into the underworld

I'm sad and down Tears running down my face I miss your touch and the sweet taste of your lips

I'm waiting every day but I know you'll never come Forever your eyes will be closed The endless fear has gone, after darkness comes the sun Forever salvation has come Forever you'll be gone

Afraid to call your name I feel an endless pain Together we were strong and full of pride The snow is falling down I've lost my golden crown My kingdom is empty, dark and cold

I'm sad and down Tears running down my face I miss your touch and the sweet taste of your lips

I'm waiting every day but I know you'll never come Forever your eyes will be closed The endless fear has gone, after darkness comes the sun Forever salvation has come Forever you'll be gone

Standing at your grave on a sleeping bed of roses Waiting for a little sign I close my eyes, remember all the feelings That I had lying in your arms

I'm sad and down Tears running down my face I miss your touch and the sweet taste of your lips

I'm waiting every day but I know you'll never come Forever your eyes will be closed The endless fear has gone, after darkness comes the sun Forever salvation has come Forever you'll be gone