

When Words Gain Weight

Serenity

A discussion, lasting long
But it's more than just to talk
It's diversion and exchange of ideas
Words 'been used a thousand times
Were never meant to hurt
But misplaced - they cut the line

Said and sealed
Thoughts revealed
A single word is far enough to hurt
sometime
Things that have been said
You know that something has gone wrong
Excuses come too late
Save your breath when words gain weight

Still the rift is open wide
But no one can ever hide
Where will it all lead to?
Do you really want to end
In this lake of regret
That is deep enough to drown in

Said and sealed
Thoughts revealed
A single word is far enough to hurt
sometime
The common road
Led astray
Harmless words you wish you'd have never said this way
Words already said
Effecting something has gone wrong
Excuses come too late
Save your breath when words gain weight
