

Gratefully Disappeared

Serj Tankian

Have you disappeared
With all of life shining upon you?
Into the brightness of today

You encircle me room to room
Partaking of your grace

My heart is intrepidation
For a have a bit of fear
Though I am filled with love for your presence

You tease me like a virgin maiden
Gallop around
Showing me your autonomous capabilities

I love you
For you are my teacher
You have taught me much
In the small presence of a millisecond
Much more than a world of physical knowledge
More than a world of physical knowledge

I had the opportunity to lightly caress you
And for that I am a billion times grateful
For that, for that, for that
I am a billion times grateful...