

Chase It!

Set It Off

Shut your mouth 'cause you're never quiet.
You put it out when I tried to light it.
This is a race that I will not lose.
I'll chase it 'til my legs give out.

What is it you want from me?
To become what you would be?
But I would rather take my chances
At running like the wind to take advantage, but until then

Shut your mouth 'cause you're never quiet.
You put it out when I tried to light it.
This is a race that I will not lose.
I'll chase it 'til my legs give out.

When I do what I love
I find myself looking back again.
And as I wait for you all
To judge my every move that I make,
You'd love to watch me go down again,
And I would come to know that
You'll never support this.

Go ahead and cast your little judgmental glances;
I'm not defenseless.
Stomp aloud and flaunt your oh-so pompous stature.
I'm where perception plays an
Important role in how you control them.
I'm not going to waste my breath on
Giving up to who you want me to be

Shut your mouth 'cause you're never quiet.
You put it out when I tried to light it.
This is a race that I will not lose.
I'll chase it 'til my legs give out.

When I do what I love
I find myself looking back again.
And as I wait for you all
To judge my every move that I make,
You'd love to watch me go down again,
And I would come to know that
You'll never support this.

It's what I want when nobody had my back.
It's what I need when I'm feeling all alone.
And what I want is just to know to myself
Is that nobody else will break me down.
(3x)

When I do what I love
I find myself looking back again.
And as I wait for you all
To judge my every move that I make,
You'd love to watch me go down again,
And I would come to know that
You'll never support this.
