

Along The Way

Seven Places

Would You ever want to walk with me?
Would You ever want to talk with me today?
Would You ever think with me and
Stop to ponder life along the way?
And I know it's going to be alright
The sun will rise and I'll be walking on
And I say the wind will blow wherever it want
But I'll be holding on
You woke me up at five am to pull me up
To where You are, now I'm here with you
The world is coming into view
And I can see Your thoughts right now
It's going to be alright
The sun will rise and I'll be walking on
And I saw the wind will blow wherever it wants
But I'll be holding on
Don't fear the wind, don't fear the waves
He's stronger,
Never fear the night, never fear the days
He's brighter