

Through the Mirror

Seven Thorns

In the darkness of my mind
I'm turning every stone to find
A place I haven't been before
To find that open door!

Out of the darkness suddenly
A light appears in front of me
The mirror image that I fear
It's not a dream - and now it's clear!

Why do I hide
When I have the power inside?
To shatter and break!

Sometimes when I'm alone
I'm looking at the face of stone
It is intense consistently
This mirror imprisoning?

I wonder when did I let go
What is a trap? I do not know
Did I decide to lose control
To live like this - to feel alone?

The mirror withholding my fate!

Look from the other side
At the world where I used to belong
Will I return
Or am I forever
Lost behind the mirror?

Must I go on
What is it I fear?
I know what they say
Seven years of bad luck
But is it enough
To hold me back
To keep me trapped?

The mirror withholding my fate!

Look from the other side
At the world where I used to belong
Will I return
Or am I forever..?

No
I have the strength to break free!

To look from the other side
At the world where I used to belong
I won't return
Cause I'm forever free!