

Swallow your pride and denial
The worthless hours
I'm giving you something
Empathy is wasted as we expire
Held down and blinded

Conquer separate
Cut the ties that burn you to the core
Condemn deviate
Pray to God to see us through the storm
We decide where we go from here

So taste these words like fire
The burden is gone for all you know
The days we've lost are far behind
The only day we lived is the day we die

With empty eyes you run from a ghost
We're always on our own
Screaming for moments
The sky will burn
We crucify the ones we love
We remain guarded

Downward eliminate
Do you hear them crying out for more
We see nothing
But a dream burning on the floor
We decide where we go from here

So taste these words like fire
The burden is gone for all you know
The days we've lost are far behind
The only day we lived is the day we die
(Listen to me)
(Taste these words)

So taste these words like fire
The burden is gone for all you know
So taste these words like fire
The burden is gone for all you know
The days we've lost are far behind
The only day we lived is the day we die
(Taste these words)
