

Broken Buildings

Seventh Day Slumber

Saturate my mind with memories
Of the Only One Who ever loved me
Everything in time will fade away
It's left me here in broken buildings

I'll never know what You see in me

What did You see in me, what do You see in me?
Is there beauty in these broken buildings?
What did You see in me, what do You see in me?
You found beauty in these broken buildings

Moments of regret used to be
The thoughts that often times consumed me
As shadows hid the eyes that said it all
It's left me here in broken buildings

And how could I repay the priceless gift You gave?
I'll never understand why You would take my place
You saw me at my worst, and still, You never left
Even when my world came crashing down
