Innocence

Seventh Day Slumber

Something I'm not supposed to talk about The way you violated me Something that I could've lived without The way you put your hands all over me I wonder do you lie awake and think at night? How you tore my innocence in two I wonder do you cry yourself to sleep at night? 'Cause I can tell you it's what you made me do

And I can't get back my innocence I can't get back my innocence how could you steal my innocence? how could you steal my innocence?

Sometimes I think about what I would do If I ever saw your face again So many untold stories only you can tell Guess I'll just let God contend with you

And I can't get back my innocence I can't get back my innocence how could you steal my innocence? How could you steal my innocence? I can't get back my innocence I can't get back my innocence How could you steal my innocence? How could you steal my innocence?

God gave me back my innocence God gave me back my innocence God gave my life back to me God gave me back my innocence
