

My Only Hope

Seventh Day Slumber

The silence of what's left is waking me, I never sleep
And what was here before is fading fast
And now it's gone away, away

So I can pray this all will end
Take it a million miles away
I can't go through this again
You're my only hope

The deepest parts of me are crying out for something more
Blind reality has lead me here
Have I thrown it all away, away