

Undone

Seventh Day Slumber

I'm trying to remember
when your presence fell like rain
These hollow things have replaced you
Lord, I need you back again

Take me to where I should be
'Cause I don't belong here I know
Without you there is no hope for me
I'm undone
Make me whole

There are still burning embers of the life that you restored
Jesus you embraced me when the world had closed the door

Take me to where I should be
'Cause I don't belong here I know
Without you there's no hope for me
I'm undone
Make me whole

I'm trying to remember
when your presence fell like rain

Take me to where I should be
'Cause I don't belong here I know
Without you there's no hope for me
I'm undone
Make me whole

Take me to where I should be
'Cause I don't belong here I know
Without you I'll never be free
I'm undone
Make me whole
