

Wear your shirts all the same colour
Burn the books thrown to you by your father
Take care so you don't fall into the ordinary people
Who fester and grow below
To the 'never never land' they go
Languish in your primal innocence
And ignore the act of love
But god's son shines bright through the thunder
Your love is pure
Your love is pure
Kneel! Cherish! Obey!
Hypnotised by your despair
When you're the pissed and the lonely
Beware Beware!
And when you close your eyes
Stretchy lingers reach down and out
Caress your thighs, caress your thighs
Caress your thighs
Hypnotised by your despair
When you're the pissed and the lonely
Beware beware!
Dreaming in the church of love and hate
No sex here we're young and clean
Anyway somebody once said
'Mark out your destiny
Stealing from a clothes line
Is not christianity'
So languish in your primal innocence
And accept the act of love
Anyway somebody once said
'Our happy new life
Killed off by the passion of a memory
Killed off by the pack of lies'
Kneel! Cherish! Obey!
Hypnotised by your despair
When you're the pissed and the lonely beware
Beware beware!
