

Innocence

Shaaman

I woke today
Inside the train of dreams
The rain poured down in black and white

I stood and stared
The rest of what remains My own world crumbling around

I held my tears
One day comes after another

The falling rain
Carried my skin again
Just let it flow to wash away

A time gone by A feeling long denied
My heart is no more bound in vain

And now
it's clear
One day leads on to another

I
dried my tears
There's so much else to discover... somewhere

I hear the sound
of thousand voices
I've lost my innocence

I'm on the way
Across the desert
To rescue what I sent Out of my heart and away

Now it's clear One day leads on to another

To fight our fears Find the way back to each other

I hear the sound
of thousand
voices
I've lost my innocence

I'm on the way

Across the desert
To rescue what I sent
Out of my heart

I hear the sound
of thousand
voices
I've lost my innocence

I'm on
the way
Across the desert
To rescue what I sent
Out of my heart away