

Black & White

Shades Apart

Black turns to white just once more
Can't realize what's happened - out of the blue
Just a spark of faith and a little bit of courage
To learn from a mistake

It's simple to see something so right
How could I've gone wrong at all?
This time it's black and white

Day turns to night like before
Does it have to be a challenge - no time to think
The truth behind this all is so sure
Why not forget about the hate

There is room to breath but
Hope can fade away
The world is not gonna stop for me this time
