Crystalline Dream

Shadow Gallery

Hold onto these Memories I grant you The gifts of our lives Los t in the sands of time Deserts forever Relentlessly barren I crossed them all In the b link of an eye I command light and solar winds To transport me The deepest assurance I speak with my mind carves of glass Shatter before me The wheels are in motion Fore ver they turn And are carved in the great book of life

There in your room Alone in the shadows I smashed down the wall s And set you free I carry the torch That trembles the mountains Seen visions of p ower Beyond all belief You close your eyes I reach out and touch you Reflections in po ols The deepest of dreams Rumors of war Rage in your heart now The wheels are in motion T ogether we turn them And forever they turn in your way

Come down with fire I want to love you want to take you into my heart We'll cruise the starways And from the moment that we touch our love turns into a crystal line dream Fly where your dreams go With open eyes it's the dawn and you're alive No time or space here I walk in castles of gold Our love turns into a crystalline dre am