

Forever Came Today

Shadow Project

Well I move to touch your face and the stars fell down and I sought to seek your place and the stars fell down I move toward your embrace and those walls came down and I sought to glimpse your fate as those walls came down

I'm moved by your...

Well I'm moved by your hands so kindly entwined

Here they are entwined

Forever came today

Forever came today

Forever came today

Well I move to take your hand and the sun comes out though I walk through barren lands still the sun comes out and I seek to share your grace and the walls come down and I bask in your embrace as the walls come down and I'm moved by your hands so blindly unkind

Yet still they are entwined

Forever came today

Forever came today

Forever came today

Yet I still seek out your face

And I move toward your embrace as the walls come down and I seek to share your place as the walls come down

They come, they come, they come crashing down

Still they are entwined

Forever came today

Forever came today

Forever came today

Forever came today

As the stars fall down and those stars fall down

Forever came today
