

Fail

Shamrain

things will never be the same what i had i'll never find again you took it all away from me all my will to live

i hear you but i won't let you in i hear you cry and whine something there is so much what i regret there is so much what i would change i will never find a way i feel i failed again i tear apart and i collapse with nothing more to give