Turn To Me

Shannon Brown

Baby, that look on you face
Seems to say it all
I've never seen you acting this way
It's like you just hit a wall

So put your keys back on the table
Leave that bottle on the shelf
Please don't look for comfort
Somewhere else

If you're gonna turn to something, baby, just turn to me
I'm listening, you can tell me anything
I know you want to find yourself an easy remedy
But if you're gonna turn to something, baby, just turn to me

Crying and coming undone
Don't make you less of a man
You know everybody needs someone
Every now and then

Baby, I know you're hurting
You want to make it go away
But don't let some brand of Bourbon
Take my place

If you're gonna turn to something, baby, just turn to me
I'm listening, you can tell me anything
I know you want to find yourself an easy remedy
But if you're gonna turn to something, baby, just turn to me

Hey, it's okay if you want to fall apart
There ain't no better place than right here in my arms

If you're gonna turn to something, baby, just turn to me
I'm listening, you can tell me anything
I know you want to find yourself an easy remedy
But if you're gonna turn to something
If you're gonna turn to something, baby, just turn to me

Baby, just turn to me
Turn to me, turn to me, turn to me
Baby, turn to me
