Wise

Shannon Noll

Never thought I'd hold another Like I'm holding you right now But through you I've rediscovered How to love again somehow

You brought me back from the place That I thought no time could erase, till now

Don't know if this will last Or if our time will come to pass I'm not concerned with things like where or when Don't know if it be wise to call that love there in your eyes I just know it's good to feel this way again

Haven't used this heart for so long It forgot how to feel Now that emptiness is all gone You fill me up with something real

Don't know if this will last Or if our time will come to pass I'm not concerned with things like where or when Don't know if it be wise to call that love there in your eyes I just know it's good to feel this way again

I took one look at your face It brought me back from the place i thought no time could erase, till now

Don't know if this will last Or if our time will come to pass I'm not concerned with things like where or when Don't know if it be wise to call that love there in your eyes I just know it's good to feel this way again
