

Everchanging World

Shawn Mullins

A young man sits by the river side
Watching the sunset over the blue ridge
And the mountain laurel reminds
Him of his bride so he flings himself
Over the burning bridge

You and I together 'till we die
We dream of a place that we used to know
But we cannot go with you girl in this
Ever changing world living learning loving
You is all I have to know
All I have to know

It seems sometimes that I've lost my Way The sweet sweet sound of the Lost and found makes my soul rise
And the nursery rhymes of my childhood
Days reminds me of a girl I used to Know I used to love oh I used to love

You and I together 'till we die
Watching the sun set over the blue ridge
And the mountain laurel she picks reminds
Her of a guy so she flings a bouquet
Over the burning bridge

You and I together 'till we die
We dream of a place that we used to know
But we cannot go with you girl in this
Ever changing world living learning loving
You is all I have to know
All I have to know
