

Little Stars

She Wants Revenge

Are you here to debate me?
Are you here to waste my time?
The sun's coming up and you've worn me down
I see you trying to hate me
You can try all you want but I'm all in your mind
Despite what you say, you're still holding on

You swear this time is not like the last
Because this time you dealt with the past
And now this time at least you can say you tried
And now this time it's not like the last
Because this time you're through with the past
And now this time the devil has left behind

Your eyes shine like a thousand little stars
These lies can't hide, they know exactly who we are
Your eyes shine like a thousand little stars
Like a thousand little stars

I know you think you can shake me
I'm wishing you luck tell me how it goes
But kicking is hard when you need a fix then you'll try to replace me
Dress him up and you can play pretend
'Cause it will only point out the things you really miss

You swear this time is not like the last
Because this time you dealt with the past
And now this time at least you can say you tried
And now this time it's not like the last
Because this time you're through with the past
And now this time the devil is deep inside

Your eyes shine like a thousand little stars
These eyes can't hide, they know exactly who we are
Your eyes shine like a thousand little stars
Like a thousand little stars

Every second is another tear
Every second is another tear
Every second is another tear
and every second is another tear

Your eyes shine like a thousand little stars
These lies can't hide, they know exactly who we are
Your eyes shine like a thousand little stars
Like a thousand little stars

Like a thousand little stars
Like a thousand little stars